Doris Flores Brooks Receives Platinum Level AGA Award

Guam Public Auditor Doris Flores Brooks was presented with a Platinum Level Regional Vice President Award at the 58th annual professional development conference of the Association of Government Accountants in New Orleans.

Brooks has just completed her one-year term as the AGA's Vice President for the Pacific Rim Region, which includes the organization's chapters in Guam, Hawaii, the Northern Mariana Islands and Japan.

The award, the highest made by AGA to its 15 regional vice presidents, was made to Brooks by AGA Executive Director Relmond Van Daniker. AGA Senior Vice President Robert Bond, who oversees a group of the AGA regions, nominated Brooks for the award.

The AGA is a national organization that serves government accountability professional by providing quality education, fostering professional development and certification, and supporting standards and research to advance government accountability.

In addition to being a certified public accountant, Brooks is recognized by the AGA as a certified government financial manager.
